UI bugs fixed in Heuristic Eval

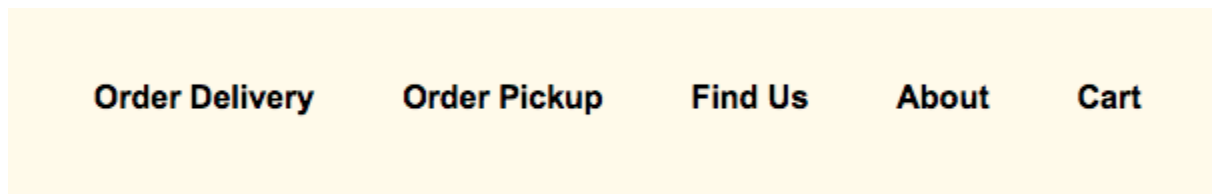

Differentiation between Delivery and Pickup buttons for glanceability prevents slips and mistakes.

Ordering delivery - click to change

Button shows the current state, and allows for fixing the state if the user made a mistake by clicking the wrong order option. This will later be implemented with a modal.

Nav bar provides for flexibility of use. Order delivery and order pickup are always available. The user has several areas with which to change the order method.

Challenges and bugs

The biggest challenge I had was creating responsive grid elements that would center properly in the page. I ended up using nested flex boxes after finding this recommendation online:

<https://dev.to/drews256/ridiculously-easy-row-and-column-layouts-with-flexbox-1k01>

I was able to use this in two places: for my product grid and for my product info page.

Another challenge I had was getting the background image to scale correctly on my homepage, but this was fixed with changing the height and background size properties.

Brand Identity

The brand identity is reflected in both the colors chosen and the photography. Bun Bun Bakery is an artisanal bakery with a friendly, approachable feel. The warm colors are inviting and cheerful, and echo some of the colors found in the baked goods themselves.
